

Questions 40–42 refer to the following map.

Japan, 1868–1918

© Cengage Learning

40. This map illustrates which of the following historical processes in Japan from 1868–1918?
- (A) Expansion of suffrage
 - (B) Enlightenment and revolution
 - (C) Industrialization
 - (D) Exploration and commerce
41. Which of the following led to the developments illustrated in the map?
- (A) Significant political and economic reform in Japan in response to increased foreign presence in East Asia
 - (B) Imperial forces from Great Britain and the United States fighting for control over coastal regions
 - (C) Slow disengagement from trade in the Pacific and Indian Oceans in order to focus on domestic concerns
 - (D) Diffusion of new political ideas from Europe that led to the end of the Japanese imperial system
42. Which of the following is an accurate comparison between China and Japan in the period 1750 to 1900?
- (A) Both China and Japan engaged foreign powers in direct conflict over unfavorable trade agreements.
 - (B) Both China and Japan failed to modernize enough to keep out foreign intervention in their economic development.
 - (C) While China successfully industrialized and maintained relative independence from the West, Japan was colonized by Great Britain.
 - (D) While Japan eventually adopted Western ideas about governance and manufacture, China continued to resist most reforms.

GO ON TO NEXT PAGE